Narrative report

I have been in the field of Oral Medicine over 35 years and I have served it from different positions (teaching graduate and post graduate students, research, hospital affiliations, private practice as well as through programs organized and sponsored by the Greek Ministry of Health and the Greek Dental Association for dental practitioners).

I have also been involved in educating the public mainly in Oral Cancer prevention and Oral diseases. For two years I have planned and organized a nationwide educational campaign under the name "Prevention and Early detection of Oral Cancer" addressed to Dentists of the country of Greece and the public, sponsored by the European Community and the Greek Ministry of Health. This campaign included the production of a book for the dentists, a pamphlet for the public, TV and radio presentations as well as lectures and talks to the public in all municipalities of Greece.

As president of the Greek Association of Oral Medicine I have organized and participated over 100 Oral Medicine meetings addressed to Greek dentists aiming their continuing education.

I run an Oral Medicine private Clinic, as well as the dpt of Oral Medicine at a private hospital (Euroclinic) in Athens

Currently I am working as an HRH/Harvard faculty member (with a US funded program) in Rwanda at the school of dentistry, teaching students and local faculty and creating with other faculty members the curriculum of the new dental school here. The first dentists of the country will graduate in 2018.

Since 2016, I also teach, as part time lecturer, 2nd year dental students at Harvard School of Dental Medicine during the course of Oral Medicine and Oral Pahology.
